CHILDRENS' PICNIC.—In connection with the Thompson M.E. Church, on the Island, is a regularly organized "Children's Meet-ing"—not a Sunday School—but a chil-dren's meeting which holds its session in exercises are full of variety each week being composed largely of voluntary liter ary performances from the children. This imparts to every child a distinct, personal interest in the meeting. The prominen workers in this interesting field of useful ness, who deserve the hearty gratitude of the good people of the "Garden Spot," are Mrs. D. R. Bell, Dr. J. S. Stone and Mrs. Henry F. Jones. The precision and ex-actness with which the machinery moves during the one hour allotted to the meetduring the one hour allotted to the meeting are truly charming to the attentive looker-on. On Saturday last this bright little organization held its annual picnic in Zane's Orchard, lasting from 9 A. M. to 7 r. M. This merry gathering put in a good time at the various innocent sports and amusements usually indulged in by active, ambitious youth. No serious accidents occurred to mar the merriment of the cheery occasion, and all feel to exclaim: "Twas a famous victory."

Baccalaureate Sermou Last Night to the Young Ladies of the Graduating Class.
According to announcement the Baccalaureate sermon to the young ladies of the Graduating Class at the Female Colege was preached at the Fourth Street M. E.
Church last night, by the pastor, Rev. C.
P. Masden. The young ladies whose school life is about drawing to a close occupied seats next the pulpit, together with some of their school mates of other classes, and the large church was filled in spite of the inclement weather at the hour for the commencement of service. Mr. Masden toks as his subject "The Law of Service;
or, the Philosophy of True Greatness," founding his discourse upon a passage in the twentieth chapter of Matthew:
"Whosever will be great among you,
let him be your minister, and whosever
will be chief, let him be your servant."
This passage was spoken by Christ in answer to Saloue's prayer that her two sons might occupy the positions of honor

A maristocracy founded on riches is plainey, and death unloads thee." Neither is an aristocracy founded on family the noblest or most desirable.

"Tis only noble to be good.

Klad hearts are more than corenets.

Klad hearts are more than corenets.

An aristocracy founded on intellect

And simple faith than Norman blood."

An aristocracy founded on intellect towers over one based on wealth or family, but is yet not the highest. The highest nobility is sonably with God. The highest type of greatness consists in Christian character; the most enduring honors are those of heaven. This is an "inheritance incorruptible, undeflied, that fadeth not away." Gold will tarnish, families degenerate, fame perish; but the Christian is God's heir; Heaven is his home, eternity his possession, angels his companions. This greatness is only to be attained by service, by being of use to others. If you would be great you must become a minister, and administer to the wants of others. Work or service is the condition of development, the condition of promotion. We must fill the place we now occupy so full that we outgrow it before we can go higher. Service is the condition of reward. "Every man shall be rewarded according to his work, whether it he good or evil."

The Presbyterian ladies will give a festival at their church Tuesday evening. They expect to have splendid ice cream, for P. E. Zinn has promised to do his best. At a meeting of the stockholders of the Ætna glass company, Saturday, it was decided to raise the capital stock to $60,000. S. R. Wells has bought the house of Mr. Waddell, on Guerneey street, Grand Hill. A large wagon load of young folks went to Wallace's dam and spent Saturday picnicing.

A singular looking man, rather good looking in the face, was about town Saturday. He was dressed in regulation trapper style, with trimmings of skins, buckskin fringed breeches, monster leauther revolver case, etc. He is wheeling a wheelbarrow from California to New York. As he spent some time at the bulling a wheelbarrow from California to New York. As he spent some time at the bulletin, it was suggested that he was walting to wheel the latest news to New York.

At the bulletin in the Tribune window Saturday there was a crowd all day. The dispatches were let down from the telegraph office by a pulley, an eager crowd gathered close as each one dropped. Between times, anecdotes, discussions and guesses were in order.

The report of the architect who examined the Presbyterian Church was not read to the congregation as asserted by the Register correspondent, but it was read Sunday morning by Key Gaston. It simple states the changes that would make the building doubly secure and satisfy the most timid or unreasonable. The entire cost of such changes would probably be only five hun-

The revised mode of examining pilots to see if they are color-bind will be as follows: Three lamps—red, green and white—will be placed in a darkened closet, and one lamp lit at a time. The applicant will be required to look through a small aperture in the door and name the color of the light, and by a mode of changing adopted by the inspectors the pilots will be tested very severely.
